St. Louis, great king of France,
 Who in times of peace ruled over
 Your country with wisdom and justice
 And, who in times of war, led your
 People in battle;

St. Louis, valiant Crusader,
 Who twice led the armies of Christ
 In the fierce combat against the Saracen
 Hordes, and who nobly sacrificed your very
 Life for the freedom of the Holy Land;

St. Louis, saintly nobleman who labored
 Unceasingly for the honor and glory of God,
 And, who with your great charity and devotion
 Sought to make life worthwhile and more
 Meaningful for your subjects;

St. Louis, patron of this city
 Under whose guidance and protection
 It has flourished and prospered
 For two hundred years;

St. Louis, we dedicate
 This yearbook to you.

Sing the song of the city, named for a saintly king

Pope Paul VI promotes world ecumenism

His Holiness, Pope Paul VI, present Vicar of Christ, provides the leadership and inspiration for the entire Catholic Church. His progressive leadership has helped the Ecumenical Council to adapt the Church to the modern tempo. His sincere interest in people of all faiths has done much to promote worldwide interest in ecumenism.

In less than two years, Pope Paul has given indications he may well be one of the truly great popes of the Church.

Cardinal Ritter guides archdiocese

Since the city of St. Louis was founded two hundred years ago, the Catholic faith has been a predominant force in its development.

Today, in 1965, the influence of Catholicism is strong under the spiritual direction of the archbishop, Joseph Cardinal Ritter, and the auxiliary bishops, Most Reverend George J. Gottwald and Most Reverend Glennon P. Flavin.

Father Lubeley, Sister Verona efficient organizers

Challenged with the task of directing DeBourc are its administrators, Sr. M. Verona, C.P.P.S., and Father Richard J. Lubeley.

The responsibility of organizing the curriculum, activities, and school policies is left to the administration. Sr. Verona and Fr. Lubeley have worked devotedly at their jobs for the past eight years.

DuBourg "Dream child" of St. Louis

From its small, primitive beginnings at Jefferson Barracks, Bishop DuBourg High School has grown to become one of the largest Catholic high schools in the Midwest.

Presently enrolled are 2,140 students, who are taught by a faculty of 125.

The school itself is situated on a 17-acre campus at the corner of Hampton and Eichelberger.

The patron of the school is Bishop Louis William Valentine DuBourg, a Sulpician priest who was the first Bishop of the Diocese of Saint Louis from 1815 to 1826.

He contributed greatly to the educational development of the diocese. One of his major achievements was the founding of St. Louis University.

To honor Bishop DuBourg a statue was erected on the school grounds as a gift of the classes of 1958-1962.

Religion advances liturgical renewal

In religion class students are enthusiastic as the liturgical movement is thoroughly studied and appreciated. As the people change, so must the Church.

A student learns the distinction between the changeable practices of the Church and the ones that will remain unchanged for all time. He delves into the Trinity during the first three years as a prerequisite for the study of the family which makes up the senior year. There a student associates the Trinity with the family in the mystery that is God.

Social studies links man to past

Juniors study rights of Americans in history class.

Through social studies man is able to reflect upon the hopes, accomplishments, and failures of the men who have gone before him. He studies the ideas and philosophies which have built great nations and those ideas which have led to their downfall.

Through social studies, one also learns how vital good government is and how necessary it is to improve it in the future. Social studies serves as a bond which links man both to the past and the future.

Students of DuBourg take four years of social studies.

English guide to communication, understanding

No man can be isolated from humanity. Man is dependent on man. Therefore he must communicate. He can make his wants known in very primitive fashion or he can reveal in keenly sensitive words the depths of his thoughts. He learns to communicate in English. He explores the great minds of the past and looks in on life. English enriches life.

English at DuBourg is a four-year requirement.

Math requires logical thought

Why is $2 + 2$ not equal to 3.999...

The science of precision provides the answer. It presents exact relations between quantities. Great minds have discovered these relations and minds become great when they use what these men discovered.

To work by a rote method of solution is not material learned. Only when all the why's and wherefore's of these formulas are coordinated with their use is this true knowledge.

All students of Deering take two years of mathematics. Electives include algebra and trigonometry for juniors and advanced math and calculus and analytic geometry for seniors.

Student, looking at book, gives the low down on the

A girl in a freshman Latin class conjugates the verb amo.

Languages disclose other cultures

Richard Emerson, Linda Drever, and Jerry Larrigan converse in Spanish.

A student in a Latin class conjugates the verb amo.

Why study a language? Students with ambition and determination study a language because they have a special urge to know people of different cultures. It is strange and wonderful to be able to converse in French, German, or Spanish, the three modern languages offered here, or to read the classical past in Latin. Knowing the country's language is knowing the people. Knowing the people is loving God through them.

Modern languages are offered to students of the A track in sophomore, junior, and senior years; and to the B track in junior and senior years. Latin is required for students of A and B track in their first two years. These students may continue Latin for two more years.

Questions arise about the mysteries of science which aid students to realize the precision and exactness of God's hand in creating the world.

Probing into the darkness has unleashed many discoveries which have helped mankind today and may help us in the future.

Science courses, offered to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, are biology, chemistry, and physics.

Business teaches responsibility, maturity. The constant peck, peck, peck of the typewriters and the rush of many people opens a new day of life.

Business is everlasting. There is never complete silence in this life. The wheels of progress churn from morning to night. It is a constant whirl. Students must learn the purpose behind all this activity, else it can become only a meaningless whirl. It must be a spiral leading to God.

Physical Education fashions strong bodies

Through physical education a student develops his body so that it is nearer to the Perfection that is God. As his muscles tone, he develops self discipline and physical control. This enables him to be master of himself so his mind, too, will perform its best in studies.

Many sports, ranging from exercises and stunts to soccer and field hockey, are required by DuBourg gym standards. Students earn one-fourth credit a year bringing the total to one full credit at graduation.

Senior boys work a problem in mechanical drawing.

Art is a material picture of beauty. To draw the dawn of a new day, to paint the foaming waves at their ebb, to sculpt the face of a crucified Savior --this truly is beauty as God created it.

To put down for all posterity a representation of beauty is not fleeting or subject to change. It is a universal truth which will be in existence for all the comings and goings of many years, decades, and centuries.

Girls of the freshman class sing their do, re, mi's.

Music resounds praise of God

"Sing to the Lord a new canticle." And DuBourg does sing a new canticle each year in the musical, Concert of Carols, and the Spring Concert.

Music comes from the Greek word mousike which means any art over which the Muses presided. The Muse is a mythological goddess of inspiration. There is one True God. Let Him inspire hearts and minds to proclaim His strong words of life and love with the strains of melodic and harmonious voice.

General Music is offered to freshmen. Electives in music for sophomores, juniors, and seniors include Sophomore Chorus, Pius X Chorus, and Senior Chorus. Orchestra classes are available for all students.

Mary Gifford, a junior, makes an outline of the principal parts of a speech.

Speech forms leaders

One of the most worthwhile courses offered to juniors and seniors of all tracks at DuBourg is speech.

Since any point on earth is today only twenty-four hours away, communication has become vital. The question is no longer can you communicate, but how effectively do you communicate.

Speech influences personality. Courses here teach students to speak well, to acquire leadership, and to build self confidence.

Speech is so very essential that one-half year of speech is a requirement of all freshmen. Speech is offered as an elective to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Roger Popovac, a senior, records a speech.

There is much to be gained from reading. A book has the potential to kindle ideas in the mind of the reader which will greatly affect his life. Through the world of books, a person may have the opportunity to experience things which would otherwise not have been possible.

The third floor library is available to the juniors and seniors. The first and second floor have smaller libraries at their disposal.

Guidance leads along right path

Throughout life, man is always besieged by problems. He is not always able to help himself; therefore, he must seek the counsel of others.

In addition to personal guidance, freshmen and sophomore classes are offered group guidance.

Juniors and seniors are free to consult any member of the faculty for personal counseling.

1. The first step is to identify the problem. This involves understanding the situation and the goals that need to be achieved.

A black and white photograph of a large group of people, likely a choir or a formal group, posed in several rows. The individuals are dressed in formal attire, and the photograph is mounted on a dark album page.
